

J. V. M'MILLAN ELECTED SUPERINTENDENT OF THE NEWARK PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Happy Solution of a Troublesome Problem Amicably Settled by Board of Education Tuesday Evening

FORTY-EIGHT APPLICATIONS WERE RECEIVED

Noted Educators From All Over State Sought Newark Superintendency as Schools Have Splendid Record for Thoroughness and Efficiency--Excellent Record of Mr. McMillan Who Comes Here From Marietta.

J. V. McMillan of Marietta, O., was elected superintendent of the Newark public schools Tuesday evening at an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education, from a list of forty-eight applicants. The election is to cover a period of three years beginning July 1 and the salary is to be $2,500 per year. The board voting unanimously to raise the present salary to that figure.

When President Edward Kibler called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock, Messrs. Beggs, Broome, Conrad, Kibler and Miller answered the roll call making a full representation of the board.

The first business transacted was the flowing of a number of bills and the offering of some insurance matters to the insurance committee.

A contract was then awarded to John J. Keller for the erection of a fence at the North Fourth street school building, the same to have cement posts at a bid of $115.

Mr. Beggs then moved that a third ballot be taken on the application of D. S. Simkins as superintendent of schools and Mr. Broome moved an amendment to the motion declaring the office of superintendent and principal of the Newark public schools to be vacant.

The amendment to the motion was then placed before the board by President Kibler and lost. Messrs. Kibler, Broome and Miller supporting it and Messrs. Beggs, Conrad and Kibler opposing it. The motion to elect Mr. Simkins was then lost, the three latter members voting for and the other three opposing him.

Clerk Keller next read the following communication:

"Newark, O., June 13, 1911.

"To the Members of the Board of Education of the Newark Public Schools: I hereby withdraw my candidacy for employment as superintendent of the Newark Public Schools.

"Respectfully, J. D. SIMKINS."

Mr. Broome made a motion which was seconded by Mr. Miller to declare the position as superintendent and principal vacant and it was carried unanimously.

Clerk Keller was next instructed to read the list of applicants which had been presented and announced that forty-eight applications had been received and that a list of twenty names of persons who had visited the board members had been prepared. Their applications scattered over various states had been received but they are not active candidates. The list which was read to the board was as follows:

D. A. Lambrite, Kendallville, Ind.
F. T. Timmons, Milford, O.
Henry M. Schaffer, Pittsburg, Pa.
R. J. Kiefer, Upper Sandusky, O.
F. P. Geiger, Canal Dover, O.
H. R. McVeigh, Sydney, O.
M. G. Calhoun, Crooksville, O.
John S. Allen, Mt. Vernon, O.
J. R. Clemmons, Granville, O.
J. H. Snyder, Columbus, O.
Wilson Hawkins, Bellaire, O.
J. V. McMillan, Marietta, O.
J. L. Crumbaugh, Massillon, O.
C. J. Berry, Wauson, O.
F. E. Reynolds, Wapakoneta, O.
W. E. Sealock, Circleville, O.
H. N. Nearness, Creston, Iowa.
C. E. Bryant, Coshocton, O.
E. S. McCall, Ironton, O.
Chas. E. Albright, Columbus, O.

It was agreed to proceed to a election by roll call as prescribed by law after first presenting a preferential list of candidates, eleven being chosen by the members as follows: Messrs. McMillan, Hawkins, Geiger, Reynolds, Allen, McVeigh, Snyder, Bryant, Timmons and Lambrite.

The first ballot resulted as follows: Kibler, Timmons; Beggs, Hawkins; Broome, McVeigh; Conrad, McMillan; Miller, Bryant; Miller, Kiefer.

There being no choice a second ballot was ordered as follows: Kibler, Hawkins; Beggs, Reynolds; Broome, Kiefer; Conrad, McMillan; Kiefer, Geiger; Miller, McVeigh.

There was no choice on the second ballot and a third was taken as follows: Kibler, McMillan; Beggs, Allen; Broome, Kiefer; Conrad, Hawkins; Kiefer, Miller, Miller, Kiefer.

A fourth ballot was necessary and resulted in the election of Mr. McMillan all the members voting for him with the exception of Mr. Miller, who supported Mr. Kiefer, but after the result had been announced Mr. Miller moved that Mr. McMillan be elected unanimously and this was done.

It was next agreed that the term of Mr. McMillan should be for a period of three years, beginning July 1, 1911, and that the present salary be raised from $2,200 to $2,500 per year. This was agreed to unanimously and after a discussion of a few minor matters the board adjourned.

Superintendent J. V. McMillan is considered by the educators as being one of the most competent and progressive superintendents of schools in the state. At many county institutes he was ever in great demand as a lecturer and during the institute last year was on the program here. Mr. McMillan is a man of independent mind and by his clever insight to his work has won for himself a prominent place among the leading educational workers of the country.

Mr. McMillan was born and reared in Seneca county about forty-five years ago. He attended the public schools and upon the completion of his high school work entered Heidelberg University at Tiffin, O. However he took no degrees from this college, but received the degree of A. M. from Marietta College. The new superintendent has been principal of the high schools of Uhrichsville and Dennison and for ten years was superintendent of the schools at Canal Dover. From Canal Dover he went to Marietta where he superintended the schools there for the past ten years and during that time has been accorded great popularity both by his assistants and pupils of the school and the citizens of the town generally.

He has brought the schools of Marietta up to an enviable point in school standing and the board of education of that city would refuse to grant his resignation if such were possible. Mr. McMillan comes to Newark at a slightly increased salary. In Marietta he received $2,400 yearly while here he will receive a yearly stipend of $2,500. Mr. McMillan is a married man and has one child.

The other applicants who received votes during the balloting are all men of recognized ability. Nearly all of them are prominent in educational affairs over the state and are leaders in their chosen profession. The services of many of them are constantly in demand at teachers' institutes and district and state meetings. It is probable that no mistake would have been made by the board in the selection of any of them, but Mr. McMillan was the fortunate candidate and it is a certainty that the board has made no mistake in his election.

SEEKING TO LOCATE FORMER PRESIDENT

Washington, July 14.—Following the definite location of Cipriano Castro, on a former Italian gunboat at Port de Paix, Hayti, the entire force of the state department through its diplomatic officers in the care of nations was concentrated today in an effort to prevent the deposed president of Venezuela from gaining an asylum. The state department is informed that Castro returned to the West Indies for the sole purpose of leading a revolution in Venezuela in the hope of succeeding President Gomez and becoming once more the dictator of the country. The famous exile is said to be posing as an Italian officer named Jacoby.

POSTAL SAVINGS

Made By Depositors Cannot be Attached or Garnished in any State in the Union.

Akron, June 14.—Deposits made in United States postal savings banks cannot be garnished in any state in the union. Attention was called to the matter by Postoffice Inspector George Pate, who has just completed his first inspection of the postal banks recently opened at Barberton. Absolute secrecy must be maintained as to the identity of depositors and the courts are helpless in any attempt to force postmasters to produce their records. Money thus deposited is not subject to attachment or other legal proceedings at the instance of creditors.

STATE STILL HAS CHANCE TO TRY COX CASE

Cincinnati, June 14.—The decision of the second judicial circuit court granting Prosecutor Hunt a writ of mandamus against Common Pleas Judge Dickson has the legal effect of making the latter's decision quashing the perjury indictment against Boss Geo. B. Cox applicable to but one of the indictments. This gives the state a fighting chance to bring the boss to trial on the remaining ones. Cox's attorneys say they will immediately file motions to quash the remaining indictments.

SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Springfield, June 14.—One of the biggest fights in Illinois politics in years is expected to result from the special session of the legislature convened here today to consider the bill providing for the expenditure of $20,000,000 for deep waterways from Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico. The bitter fight between Governor Dennen and Speaker Atkins, who refused to allow the bill to come to a vote at the regular session will probably be resumed. The bill had the approval of President Taft and is causing universal attention throughout the middle west.

TROUBLE OVER THE MARRIAGE SETTLEMENT

Attorney Henry O. Ashcraft was called upon a few days ago to act as arbitrator in a domestic difficulty of a foreign family and in his services as peacemaker, he ran across a peculiar state of affairs.

A comely young woman, a bride of a few months, called at the attorney's office, and through an interpreter, stated her case.

She said that her husband had left her because his brother had threatened to kill him if he continued to live with her. The bride's father was called into the conference and he refused to agree to a reconciliation unless the husband's father gave him five acres of land in the old country which he agreed to do when the marriage was consummated.

Then the husband in turn refused to agree to the peace pact unless his wife's father made a like concession and gave the young wife something as a wedding present.

The matter was finally adjusted by the husband and wife agreeing to resume their former relations until word could be exchanged with the man's parents across the water and his agreement to the transfer of the land was secured.

The young woman's father here said he would agree to the arrangement if the husband would "no cuss a-da girl" for one whole month he would be satisfied with the arrangement, but he warned the bride against the brother with the peevish disposition. "He a-no good. He a vera bad man," said the wise old father as he passed his blessing on the re-united couple.

Turning Into Money.

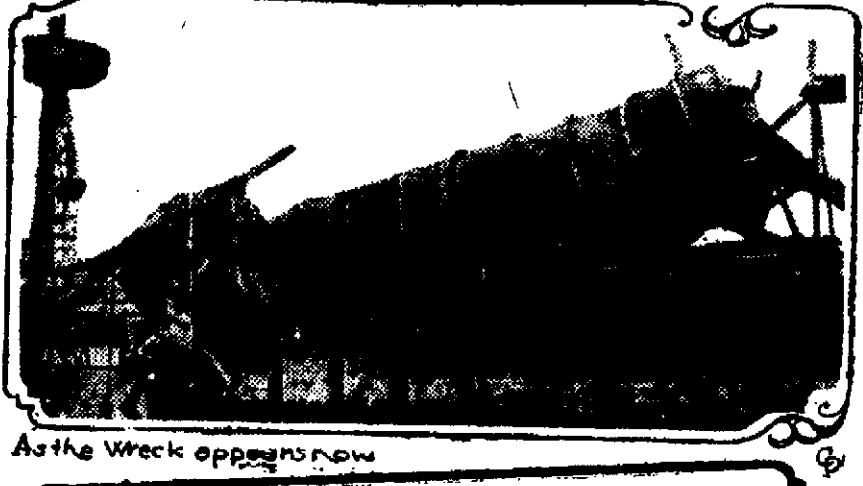

Have you recently passed through the moving and house-cleaning season? It's a task that few housewives enjoy.

Just at this time it is invariably the case that many household articles are brought to light that have been utterly forgotten—dis-carded furniture, such as baby carriages, refrigerators, trunks, apparel that has been laid away, odds and ends of household wares, scores of such things that "turn up" at the annual Spring house-cleaning season.

Why not turn such goods into cash? There's a way to get a fair price for them if you can locate just the individual or house hold that needs them.

Try a Want Ad. It will invariably serve your purpose profitably and at small expense.

HOW THE MAINE WAS DESTROYED MAY SOON BE KNOWN; HULK BEING SLOWLY RAISED

The real reason for the war with Spain—the cause of the explosion which destroyed the battleship Maine—may soon be known. Every mud in Havana harbor. The wreck as it appeared when two feet of water had been pumped out is shown, as in the extent of the works necessary to raise the once great ship. A great cofferdam surrounds the whole. One story has it that as soon as the wreckage has been raised it will be towed to sea and allowed to sink.

WAR AGAINST THE EXPRESS COMPANIES STARTED TODAY

Washington, June 14.—War on the express companies began in earnest today before the committee on post-offices and post roads which opened hearings on the parcel post for which several measures are pending.

Representative Lewis, Democrat, of Maryland, appeared to support his bill which provides for condemning and purchasing of all express companies. His main reason why the parcels post should succeed the express companies are:

First, he said that the express companies' service did not extend beyond the railroads to the farmer, and second that contracts of the express companies with the railroads gives them an average transportation rate of 3-4 cents per pound and with the parcel post it would reduce it from one-half to two-thirds of the present rate on parcels ranging from 5 to 50 pounds and 28 per cent on heavier weight.

Louis said that the government cannot conduct a parcel post on mail railway transportation rates at over 4 cents a pound in competition with the express companies paying 3-4 cents a pound. That a system, he says, enables the express corporations to pay over 50 per cent in profit to themselves although rendering no service whatever to points off railroads. The committee has under consideration the bill by Representative Sulzer, Democrat, of New York, providing for a limited parcel post. This measure is supported by the parcel post league.

FIRST SOCIALIST SPEECH EVER MADE IN CONGRESS

Washington, June 14.—For the first time in its history the house of representatives today heard Socialism expounded by one of its exponents, the first member of the party who ever sat in the legislature. It was Victor L. Berger of Wisconsin, who pledged his support to the Democratic wool revision bill because he said it was in line with social and political evolution and because it tended to destroy the old superstition and to break down the barriers between nations.

The hall was filled as Berger arose to speak and the first principles of Socialism ever heard in the house were cheered.

The Wisconsin man was accorded a reception and hearing such as has seldom been accorded. Immediately behind Berger as he scored the Republican tariff policy and Representative Payne, leaning eagerly forward to catch every word. A few cents back sat Uncle Joe Cannon listening intently and applauding vigorously occasionally. Members arose from distant seats and crowded down into the front of the house and in the center aisles in order to hear more distinctly.

Officers of the union say that as the big vessels come into their home ports the crews will abandon them and in a short time there will be a general tieup in shipping.

Southampton, England, June 14. The long-threatened strike of the International Seamen's union will begin today.

A long-standing dispute between the National Sailors and Firemen's union of Great Britain and the Shipping Federation of Great Britain led to a threat that a general strike of seamen would be called this summer, possibly during coronation week, when shipping interests would be most seriously inconvenienced.

The ship owners' organization has refused to make the concessions in wages and working conditions demanded by the men. One of the leaders of the British union made the statement that the longshoremen in America agreed to go out in sympathy. This assertion was substantiated. (Continued on page 2, col. 5.)

Practical Housekeeping.

One Solution of the Maid Problem.

PRACTICAL housekeeper has brought forward a suggestion which she thinks will help solve the maid problem.

She says that one reason girls who are overcrowding factories and working in restaurants at low wages cannot be attracted to housework is because of the social stigma. They and their friends must go in and out the back door. They have no place to receive and entertain their friends, especially men, but the kitchen. It is true, that there is something about this that the self-respecting American girl and man resent. And so the girl goes into factories and laundries and such places at net earnings far below what she would make working in the home. And the field of home work is demoralized.

This housekeeper, therefore, suggests that each community should have a Central House, a sort of club house, really, where the maids of that community could live. In reality, it would be their home. The bedrooms should be dainty; there should be a parlor, possibly a recreation room where dances and other social affairs could be given. In addition, if desired, there could be a restaurant for the public, and a training school for domestic helpers. The house might indeed be open to women of other occupations as a place to board. But in no sense should it be a charity. And it should primarily be a home for those who were working in the homes of the community. Here they could receive their friends just the same as they would in their own home or boarding house, were they engaged in some other occupation.

There is something to be said for the suggestion. Without doubt, the social stigma has much to do with many a girl's going into a factory instead of home work. There are other causes to be sure, but this is one. And if this can be removed, it would be well to remove it. With this out of the way, perhaps some of the other objections could be vanquished, and the work gradually cleared of all objectionable features. It is a problem that sadly needs solving. On one side, certain occupations are overcrowded, and girls working at wages impossible to live on. On the other hand, is a field of labor almost deserted. Women certainly need to attack this condition and bring about a readjustment. If the Central House will help, then it would be a wise step for the progressive women of a community to get together and establish a Central House.

IT IS EASY TO MAKE A MODERN BATHING SUIT AND VACATION GIRLS HAVE CHANCE

It is so easy to make a pretty bathing suit for almost nothing at all in these days of seamless bodices and narrow petticoats, that there seems no reason why every vacation girl should not have a charming little silk suit of her own.

This dainty model is built of blue and white striped silk with bands of plain blue on sleeve and sailor collar. Necktie and belt are also plain blue and the cap matches the suit. Under such a bathing dress knitted cotton tights may be worn instead of the full knickers which would require as much silk as the dress itself.

SECOND ANNUAL BANQUET OF HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI

The second annual banquet of the Newark High School Alumni Association was held Tuesday evening at the First Presbyterian church, and should succeeding ones show an increase in interest in accordance with any rule of arithmetical progression, there will hardly be a hall in Newark which can accommodate those who will feel honored to attend.

This alumni association is one which is bound to thrive as the two meetings have fostered, if not generated, an esprit de corps which in every organization having to do with students, whether alumni or undergraduates means a successful existence.

The committee of arrangements left nothing to be desired in their work, and each one took an active personal interest toward the accomplishment of the desideratum. This committee consisted of the following: Sherman J. Baggs, Faye Emory, Florence Hines, Katherine Vance, Lillian Kammerer, Ray Ellis and William Barnett.

The members of various classes from 1853 to 1911 were in attendance, and began arriving about 6:30, being met by the reception committee in the church proper.

An attempt was made to secure a registration but it was seen that this would take too long, as there was only one book. Many, however, took advantage of an opportunity offered after the banquet in the dining room.

The banquet was served here by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church, and has never been excelled in Newark at a function of the kind both from the standpoints of cuisine and excellent service.

After an invocation by Rev. F. E. Vernon two hundred and thirty-two persons full of good nature and exuberant spirits fell to, and discussed the following menu:

Fruit Cocktail
Pickles
French Chicken
Pommes de Terre en Creme
Hot Rolls
Boston Brown Bread
Garlic Salad
Wafers
Ice Cream and Strawberries
Coffee

After every one had satisfied the natural cravings of the material being, the intellectual was attended to. The appended program had been distributed, which was followed out:

TOASTS.

"The night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day,
Will unfold their tents, as the Arabs,
And as silently steal away."
Sherman J. Baggs, Toastmaster.
"Why We're Here".....Emerson Miller
"The best is yet to come."
"Thirty-two Years After".....
.....Henry C. Cochran
"Gleams".....Miss Edith Brown

Just by the Way

"A N epigram," says the Boarding House Philosopher, "is an old thing made over in words that only clever people can make any sense out of."

His Worry.

"My son, never be afraid to tell the truth."
"I ain't, Pa. What bothers me is how to tell a lie without being afraid."

According to His Needs.
"I want to buy a book for my little nephew."
"Yes, sir. Here's a nice thing—'Robinson Crusoe,' in Words of One Syllable."

"Won't do—he's a Boston boy. Have you 'Mother Goose' in words of five syllables?"

Change.
"You say he actually likes having his wife be a suffragette and all that?"
"Yes. He thinks it's fun to get up and go through her trousers' pockets for change, while she's asleep."

Just Once.
Mr. Hub! You fainted in my arms during our wedding ceremony! Mrs.—Yes, and that's the only time in your life you ever supported me!

"The position is yours, sir, if you will deposit $1,000 as a security."
"I accept your offer, sir, if you will deposit $1,000 as a security for my security."

"Be wise! Be careful, bright and cheerful! Leave to the fool his folly And let your motto be 'cheer up!' Your rule of life, 'Be jolly.'"
Words.....Dr. Earl V. Prior
"We Finish to Begin".....
.....Miss Columbia Thompson
"Friendly may we part,
And happy meet again."

Mr. Baggs in his preliminary remarks stated that on several previous occasions reunions of the alumni had been held, notably in 1877 and 1878, but a revival of the interest in such events was made possible through the efforts of the class of 1909.

Mr. Baggs in a very appropriate manner then formally received into membership of the association, the class of 1911, and called upon Emerson Miller of that class who responded in a most pleasing address.

The other speakers on the program were also at their best and the addresses were most enthusiastically received.

Mr. Cochran represented the class of 1879. Miss Brown, 1909; Dr. Prior, 1897. After short impromptu addresses by Mrs. B. G. Smythe, Miss Florence King and Mrs. Daniel Sheppard, the entire gathering sang "Should Old Acquaintance Be Forgotten," and the second banquet of the Newark High School Alumni Association had passed into history.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION
The Popular Little City Is Gaining Much Commendation for Its Worthy Enterprise and Many Visitors Will Attend.

The Coshocton people are making such extensive preparations for their coming historical centennial celebration that they are attracting the attention of the entire state. The indications are that with all Coshocton's proverbial hospitality and the preparations her enterprising citizens are making for the care and entertainment of the many visitors that are expected, the little city will be crowded to its utmost by the throng of guests who will be in attendance. To students of Ohio history the final adjustment of the orthography of the name
Coshocton is a matter of interest.

According to Howe's Historical Collections the "name is a Delaware word, derived from that of the Indian village Goshachgunk."

In some of the frontier histories the name is given as "Cowshocking."

In his Narrative of the Moravian missionaries among the Indians John Heckewelder makes frequent use of the name and invariably writes it from the Indian pronunciation as "Goshoch-king."

In General Broadhead's report of his campaign against Coshocton in the spring of 1781 to President Reed of the Executive Council of Pennsylvania he writes the name of the place
as "Cooshasking."

From these and other forms of the original Indian pronunciation of the word the more euphonic and popular name of Coshocton was evolved.

The beautiful little city is not only popular in name but it is popular in fact, both at home and abroad. The evidence of this is often demonstrated by the remarks of commercial traveling men who frequent the city, for they invariably speak of it in words of praise.

The Toledo Blade, which for forty years was known as the paper that "pulverized the rum power," is cognizant of the staple article in a dry county, when it rises to remark that "the voters of Henry county gave a majority of 992 against the suitcase."

The Wants are a convenience in many ways and their expense is but a minimum.

Stories Told at the Dinner Table
A farmer from Kerry went to the adjoining county of Limerick, where
the land is richer, to look for a farm.
He saw one which he thought would suit him, but could not agree with
the landlord as to the rent.
"Get away," cried the landlord,
angrily, at last. "This land is not like your miserable Kerry land, where a mountain sheep can hardly get enough to eat. The grass grows here
so fast and so high that if you left a heifer out in the field there at night,
you would scarcely find her in the
morning."

THE BOY, OH WHERE WAS HE?
The boy stood on the burning deck—an orator was he; and in that scene of fire and wreck he spoke quite fluently. "The men who hold the public snaps should all be fired," he cried, "they should make room for worthy chaps who wait their turn outside. True virtue always stands without, and vainly yearns and toils, while wickedness in office shouts and passes round the spoils. One rule should govern our fair land—a rule that's bound to win; all office holders should be canned, to let some new ones in. All people usefully employed at forge, in mill or shop, should know that labor's null and void—man's duty is to yawn. The farmer should forsake his plow, the barness man his straps, the blacksmith should get busy now, and look around for snaps. Why should the carpenter perform when we have homes enough; why should producers round us awarn, when steal-men are the stuff? Why should we put up ico or hay, or deal in clothes or meat, when politicians point the way that leads to Easy street? There came a burst of thunder sound; the boy—O where was he? Ask of the winds that all around with lungs bestrewn the sea.

The gun burst, and where was I?
It was the morning of a celebration, and I was ordered out with four guns of the battery to fire a national salute. I pulled the lanyard which fired the twentieth shot. There was an explosion, not especially in front of the gun, but all over, and I was lying on my back unconscious.
The next thing I knew I felt a soft bed under me, but I couldn't see anything. My eyes were bandaged. I remembered the salute and the explosion. It occurred to me that I had lost my eyesight. I asked if any one was in the room, and a man's voice answered. He told me that the surgeon attending me had ordered that no light should, for a few days at least, be permitted to enter my eyes. I was in a house where I had been carried after the accident. I was to be taken home that afternoon. The man assured me that I was not much hurt and my eyes would come out all right.
My informant went out soon after this, leaving me alone. I did not feel much pleased over what had hap-

Stories Told at the Dinner Table
A farmer from Kerry went to the
adjoining county of Limerick, where
the land is richer, to look for a farm.
He saw one which he thought would
suit him, but could not agree with
the landlord as to the rent.
"Get away," cried the landlord,
angrily, at last. "This land is not like
your miserable Kerry land, where a mountain sheep can hardly get
enough to eat. The grass grows here
so fast and so high that if you left a
heifer out in the field there at night,
you would scarcely find her in the
morning."

THE BOY, OH WHERE WAS HE?

OLDEST HOUSE IN NEWARK BEING PARTIALLY TORN DOWN

The Knight Property on East Main Street Remained in Possession of the Same Family From 1834 Until the Present Year When It Was Sold.

The oldest house in the city of Newark is being torn down, in part, will be retained in part by the present owners who will make it a home. The house is situated on the north side of East Main street in the second west of Front street, and is known as the old Knight homestead.

Miss Clara Knight, who died some time ago, had lived there all her life, and after her death it passed to her heirs, who sold the property to Thomas and James Murphy, blacksmiths, who now have the house for it, a really interesting monument. The deed is yellow with age and bears date of 1834, the property having never been transferred that time until the Murphy house a couple of months ago.

Through the kindness of Miss Murphy, the Knight an Advocate secured the following interesting account of the history of the property.

Joseph King and wife, Quakers, from Milton, N. J., in 1830, their nine children, on the first boat that came to Newark. The King was at Second street, and they were met by the prominent citizens, among whom was Mr. Dille, then a young man, in a beautiful shirt, peg-top trousers and cut-away coat, escorted them to Hays' burg, the end of North Fourth street, between Leest and High streets, where Mr. King had bought a home, just opposite Miss Laura Jones' present residence.

Mr. Israel Dille was the father of Mrs. Anna Black and grandfather of Mr. Fred Black, Mr. Will and Miss Annie Wotring.

After residing in Hays' burg the family migrated to Granville and then returned to Newark, buying the place recently owned by Mr. L. B. Wing. The wing house, however, is a more modern structure.

Here Julia was married to Mr. Samuel Voorhees, who had come with them from New Jersey, and had taught the boys the trade of hat makers.

Mr. Nathan King started the manufacture of men's hats in Newark. Hugh went to Mansfield, Joseph to Tiffin, William to Mt. Vernon and Thomas to Cincinnati, in the dry goods business. Curiously enough every one of them proved successful business men. Sarah married Madison Houghton and lived in Mt. Vernon. Anne married Abram Dunn, only comparatively recently dead, and the humorous Major Dunn will be remembered by many a people. Martha married Mr. James Knight, the cabinet maker. She with the family moved into the East Main street house owned by them since 1834. There never was a transfer of the property nor a mortgage on it.

Miss Clara Knight was born there and lived in the house seventy-two years, and died there last November.

Dr. Joseph King Knight, of Boston, and Mrs. Wm. A. King, are the only surviving members of that branch of the family.

Nothing was known of the history of the quaint old house with its sloping roof, its steps up and down into the rooms, its attic reached by a draw-bridge, by the family, but tradition has it that it was once a road house, in the old stage-coach days, and there was sounds of reveling by night but this may all be fairy lore. Suffice to say it is of solid oak and hard wood in the strictest sense and one of the oldest landmarks in town; peculiar, in that it has remained in the possession of the Knight family since 1834 until the first of this year.

The property was bought by Mr. Knight for $400 in 1834, and was sold to the Murphys for $4,750 in 1911, showing a considerable increase in value of real estate during the long period of years.

PREPARATIONS FOR MEETING OF MEXICAN VETS

Thirty-Seventh Annual Reunion to Occur Thursday and Friday—Camp Fire Thursday Night.

All the arrangements are now complete for the thirty-seventh annual reunion of the Ohio State Association of Mexican War Veterans, which is to be held in this city on Thursday and Friday of this week. Captain Daniel Darlington, the president of the association, assisted by Captain Henry Fleming of this city, and John A. Fisher of Granville, have been working with the enthusiasm of young men to make this reunion one of the best that has been held for a number of years, and judging from the outlook their anticipations are to be realized.

Several of the old comrades from a distance have already arrived, and the indications are that the attendance will be up to that of a year ago.

While no general program has been prepared the comrades will meet at the Hotel Wardman, which is to be headquarters. Here they will register and the morning hours will be spent in greeting old friends and in renewing the friendships of more than three score years ago.

A big dinner will be served the comrades at the Hotel Wardman at the noon hour. In the afternoon they will meet at Memorial Hall at 2 o'clock, when they will be taken in automobiles for a ride about the city, visiting the different places of attraction.

In the evening a camp fire will be held at Memorial Hall, at which addresses will be delivered by Col. W. L. Curry, United States Pension Agent at Columbus, and who has always been a staunch friend of the Mexican War Veterans, General A. H. Axline, and others. The camp fire is sure to be a most interesting one, and as a most cordial invitation is extended to all the old soldiers and the citizens generally, it is hoped there will be a large attendance.

It was stated that this reunion would probably be the last general reunion of the Ohio State Association of Mexican War Veterans, but Captain John A. Fisher of Granville, says that as long as there are two living members of the association they will continue to hold their reunions.

Comrade John Brattle of Charlevoix, Mich., was the first Mexican War veteran to arrive in the city. He left Charlevoix Tuesday morning and traveled all day and night to reach Newark. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Elizabeth. Although Comrade Brattle is past 85 years old, he still looks hale and hearty and if necessary, could again act in the defense of his country. He was a member of the Fifteenth United States regulars, in the War with Mexico, serving in Company H, under Captain John Perry. The late General George W. Morgan of Mt. Vernon was colonel of the regiment. Comrade Brattle is the only survivor, as far as known, of the regiment.

Captain John A. Fisher of Granville, secretary of the Ohio State Association of Mexican War Veterans, received the following letter from George T. Barney, president of the National Association of Mexican War Veterans, and who is also president of the Indiana State Association:

"Elkhart, Ind., June 12, 1911. 'Comrade John A. Fisher, Secretary State Association Mexican War Veterans:

"My Dear Comrade: I expect to leave here at 10:30 Wednesday morning and be at Newark about 7 p. m., when I hope to meet the old comrades at the Hotel Wardman. Just now I am very well and hope to keep so.

"George T. Barney."

WEIGHT YOURSELF BEFORE USING.

Weigh yourself before commencing to use Samose, the great flesh-forming food. The wonderful sale on this preparation since first introduced in Newark and the remarkable results following its use have made Samose that they give their personal guarantee to refund the money if Samose will not make thin people fat and restore strength and health to those who use it.

This is a strong guarantee, but W. A. Erman & Son have seen so many of their customers who a few weeks ago looked like walking skeletons become plump and well, solely through the use of Samose that they feel they cannot say too much to induce people to try it.

This marvelous flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it is taken into the stomach, makes good rich blood, tones up the weakened system, helps to assimilate the food and makes the user plump, well and rosy.

ROAD BUILDING

In Ohio Not Defeated By Governor's Veto of the Hudson Bill.

The road enthusiasts are not disheartened by the veto of the Hudson one-half mile bill, for the passage of the Act which has been approved by the Governor, they feel that they have accomplished nearly all that they expected at the recent session of the General assembly.

The legislative plans of the Ohio Good Roads Federation as outlined at its meeting in Columbus last January were:

First, The reorganization of the highway department and creation of the bureaus of Construction, Maintenance and Repair, and Bridges.

Second, State supervision of all roads constructed in whole or in part by state aid money.

Third, The perpetual maintenance of State aid roads by the highway department.

Fourth, The inauguration of the Inter-County System of roads connecting important commercial centers in the state and making necessary surveys and estimates for the same.

Fifth, A levy of one-half a mill on the taxable property of the state to create a fund available in 1913 to construct the Inter-County system.

All of the above with the exception of the latter are provided for in Senate bill 165 by Senator McGuire, and which is now a law.

The road enthusiasts will now go forth with renewed energy in a state-wide campaign for the proper construction and maintenance of roads, for the economical expenditure of all money appropriated for road purposes, and will present to the constitutional convention, which will assemble next January, a plan to complete the Inter-County system, which plan will equitably distribute the cost of the same on all the taxpayers of the state. With such energetic workers as are the officers of the Ohio Good Roads Federation the people of Ohio will never be content until the state is as well equipped with public roads as the state of New York or the New England states.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Garfield Was a Boy Who Helped His Mother

"I WONDER what I'd do if I had to go out tomorrow morning and earn my living," blurted out Jack one evening.

"Gracious me," said daddy, "what's the matter now? That's a pretty big question for your small head."

"Well," said Jack, "little Bob Evans has got to start in tomorrow to help his mother out. He's got a job as errand boy with the groceryman, and he's got to be there every morning at 6 o'clock, and the store doesn't close until 9 o'clock at night, and all he's going to get is $2 a week, and that is only twice what you give me for spending money, and he's such a nice little chap (he's nicer than I am), and I think it's a shame."

"Now, I'll tell you, son," said daddy after he had winked his eyes once or twice pretty fast, "in the first place I love you extra hard for thinking of your little friend, and in the second place I'm going to make it my business in the morning to see that Bob can stay at school for a year or so more, but I want to tell you that even if Bob or you had to go to work while you were still in short pants you would be doing nothing wonderful."

"I think I shall have to tell you about the boyhood of President Garfield. His parents were farmers, and when he was less than two years old his father was burned to death while trying to put out a forest fire."

"Besides Baby James, there were Thomas, nine years old, and Mehetabel and Mary, aged five and seven. Now, that was a fine, big, strong family to run a farm, wasn't it?"

"Jim did his share from the time he was able to toddle and after doing chores went to the school a mile and a half away, even though his sisters had to often carry him home."

"You talk about Bob's $2 a week. I tell you that Garfield family didn't see $2 in a year. But they stuck, and Thomas, who was getting a big boy, worked in a lumber camp and made $75, and they built themselves a house. Little James watched the carpenters and tried the tools and handled them so well that the boss carpenter told him he would give him a penny for every board he could plane."

"Little Jim planed a hundred boards the first day and ran home to his mother with the dollar and from then on worked and studied until he came to be one of our greatest presidents."

"Oh, well, he was an extra smart boy," said Jack.

"I'll bet you can be just as smart if you want to," said Evelyn.

"I think so, too," said daddy.

	MONEY SCATTERED.	ORDER OF SALE.
	A few men in this country are charged with the terrible offense of being very rich. The fact is that the wealth of this country is less "bunched" than at any time in its history. I mean that the wealth is more equally distributed over sections of country and among the people than ever before. The west now has money and few mortgages compared with former years. The south has never before been in such a healthy financial condition. I guess they will come to New York, now, from these districts when they are badly in need of money. —J. Pierpont Morgan	By virtue of an order of sale to me directed from the Court of Common Pleas of Licking County, Ohio, I will offer for sale at Public Auction at the door of the Court House (south steps) in the City of Newark, in said County of Licking and State of Ohio, on SATURDAY, JULY 15TH, A. How King George Will Be Crowned

Details of the Coronation of England's New Sovereign and His Queen, June 22, in Westminster Abbey. Form and Order of the Service and the Ceremonies, Compiled From Official Sources---Solemn Rites Attending the Function---Archbishop of Canterbury Personally Crowns His Majesty and Queen Mary.

It would require a book—and that book has been published—to tell in detail just how King George V. and Queen Mary of England will be crowned and enthroned in Westminster Abbey on the 22d of June in the midst of a splendid gathering of princes, nobles and ecclesiastics, with as many spectators as can gain access to the great hall.

A little volume issued "by command of the king" gives the exact service and ceremony of the coronation. It is titled "The Form and Order of the Service That Is to Be Performed and of the Ceremonies That Are to Be Observed in the Coronation of Their Majesties King George V. and Queen Mary in the Abbey Church of St. Peter, Westminster, on Thursday, the Twenty-second Day of June, 1911." The length of the title indicates the duration of the ceremonies, which are long drawn out. According to the "Table of Contents" in the book, here is what takes place:

1. The preparation; 2. the entrance into the church; 3. the recognition; 4. the Litany; 5. the beginning of the communion service; 6. the sermon; 7. the oath of allegiance; 8. the presentation of the sword and the giving and oblation of the said sword; 9. the investing with the arm and royal robe and the delivery of the orb; 10. the investiture per annulum et baculum; 11. the putting on of the crown; 12. the presentation of the Holy Bible; 13. the benediction; 14. the enthronement; 15. the homage; 16. the queen's coronation; 17. the communion; 18. the Te Deum; 19. the recess.

Archbishop's Busy Day.

The Rev. Randall T. Davidson, archbishop of Canterbury and as such the highest prelate in the Church of England, is a highly important personage on coronation day, for it is he who crowns the king and conducts the solemn ceremonies in incident perpetually. He is assisted by the dean of Westminster.

WESTMINSTER ABBEY, THE FAMOUS CHURCH WHERE KING GEORGE AND QUEEN MARY WILL BE CROWNED AND ENTHRONED.

minister and other bishops, all of whom, it should be remembered, are peers of the realm.

On coronation day the procession of bishops, headed by the archbishop of Canterbury, will form immediately outside the west door of the church and wait till notice is given of the approach of the king and queen, when they shall begin to move into the church. Their majesties are to be greeted by the singing of an anthem by the choir of Westminster. Completed and curtailed from the official book mentioned, the procedure of crowning and anointing King George, with many incidental details necessarily omitted, is as follows:

Presenting the King.

The king and queen pass into the theater of the church, walk past their thrones and kneel at the south door of the altar, where they make brief private prayers. Then they sit down in chairs provided for them. The archbishop, the lord chancellor the lord high constable and the earl marshal go in turn to each side of the church "and at every of the four sides shall in a loud voice speak to the people, and the king in the meanwhile, standing up by his chair, shall turn and show himself unto the people at every of the four sides of the theater" as the archbishop says:

"Hail, I present unto you King George, the undoubted king of this realm. Wherefore all you who are come this day to do your homage and service, kneel down to do the same?"

"And save King George!" loud and loudly cry the people. Then the servant George, out king, and as thou dost this day set a crown of pure gold upon his head there the king must be put in mind to bow his head, so that he may do it with things (dignity) and in crown him with all princely virtues through the King of kings, Christ our Lord. Amen."

Then the king sitting down in King Edward's chair, the archbishop, assisted with other bishops, shall come from the altar, the dean of Westminster shall bring the crown and the archbishop, taking it of him, shall reverently put it upon the king's head, at the same time saying: "God save the king! the people of the kingdom of Great Britain shall put on their crowns, and the trumpets shall sound, and all the bells shall ring, and the choir shall sing: 'Te Deum'."

The dean of Westminster takes the Holy Bible from the altar and gives it to the archbishop, who presents it to the king, first saying these words: "Our glorious king, we present you with this book, the most valuable thing that this world affords. Here is wisdom, this is the royal law; these are the lively oracles of God." The Bible then is replaced upon the altar.

The Enthronement.

Now comes the enthronement, second only in interest to the actual crowning. The king is lifted into his throne by bishops and other peers, all the great nobles standing about the steps of the throne. The archbishop admonishes his majesty to stand firm and "establish your throne in righteousness, that it may stand fast forevermore, like as the sun before him and as the faithful witness in heaven."

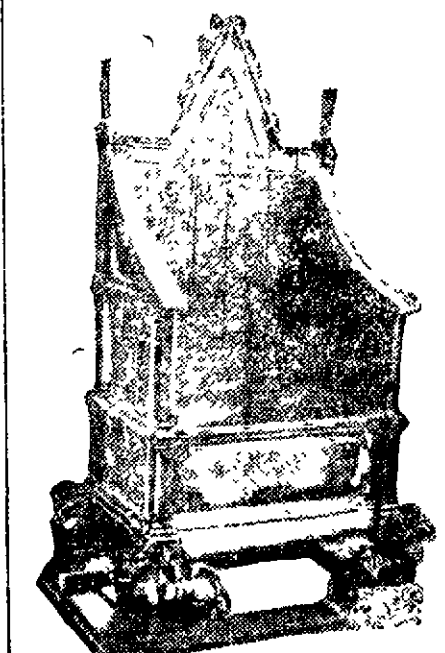

Beginning with the archbishop, all the princes and peers kneel before the throne and vow allegiance to the sovereign, after which the archbishop kisses the left cheek of his majesty.

The Prince of Wales also takes the vow of homage, and all the princes of the royal blood touch the crown on his majesty's head and kiss the king's left cheek. When the homage is ended the drums shall beat and the trumpets sound and all the people shout, crying out: "God save King George! Long live King George! May the king live forever!"

Queen Mary's Turn.

Thus end the coronation and enthronement of the king. The ceremony for the queen is not so elaborate. Queen Mary is anointed by the archbishop, four peeresses meanwhile holding over her a rich pall of cloth of gold. The ring is put upon her finger and the crown upon her head, after which all the peers present put on their coronets. The presentation of the scepter and the ivory rod with the dove foot, and the queen takes her seat upon her throne, bowing reverently as she passes the throne of her husband.

After communion the king descends from his throne and wearing the crown and carrying the scepter and rod, goes into St. Edward's chapel, followed by a great procession of bishops, peers and princes. The queen follows, and they proceed in state into the chapel, where his majesty is relieved of the royal robe of state and clothed in his robe of purple velvet. Their majesties proceed to the west door of the church, where they entered, all the peers following, wearing their coronets.

STONE PLANNED COUP IN SENATE

Hoped to Control Body by Alliance With Insurgents.

PLAN WAS NOT SUCCESSFUL

Missourian Now Says That Democrats Will Not Aid Republican Principles Flavored With Insurgency—Tremendous Effort Being Made to Patch Up Democratic Differences.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, June 14.—[Special.]—At the beginning of this session of congress it was reported that Senator Stone was trying to effect an arrangement with the insurgent Republicans by which the Democrats and the dissatisfied element in the Republican party could take control of the senate.

If attempted it was not successful, and the Missouri senator now declares that the insurgents are malevolent, striving to stir up ill feeling and create factions on the Democratic side. He told them that if they wanted to work with the Democrats they must come over and support Democratic principles and not expect to have the Democrats support Republican principles with a little insurgentcy thrown in.

While there are party divisions on the Democratic side, it is evident that a tremendous effort is being made to heal differences and get together. The hope is expressed that when the wool will come before the senate the Democrats will all be found lined up supporting it, and, strange to say, the Republican regulars expect to have all the Republicans, including the insurgents, standing solidly in opposition to that measure.

Peace Overtures.

It is assumed that the Republicans cannot get together unless Roosevelt supports Taft. That is why there has been so much said about the agreement of the former president to support the present president. There is something in the talk, and the denial by Roosevelt only emphasizes a well known trait of his character, which is that he likes to make his own announcements.

There have been many peace conferences, and Secretary Meyer, Nick Longworth and other mutual friends of Taft and Roosevelt have endeavored to bring about an understanding between them. That such an understanding exists may well be guessed, but perhaps the announcement under big headlines was premature.

Giving the Old Men a Chance.

An interesting feature of the control of the house by the Democrats is the fact that many old men have been employed. A great many of them are Confederate veterans selected by southern members for the places at their disposal. They are dignified but courteous employees.

No Longer a Star.

During the first month of the present session of congress it was noticed that every newspaper man reached for his pencil and paper when ex-Speaker Cannon took the floor. He has often taken part in the debates and house proceedings since, but he no longer causes the interest that he first attracted to him. It was generally supposed he was going to make the minority one continuous exciting performance, but, as a matter of fact, the Republican opposition has been very tame.

One on Fitzgerald.

The chairman of the appropriations committee is from Brooklyn and for years he has "marched" the way fore when he read under flaming headlines a report that eight Democrats had been discharged from the Brooklyn navy yard and their places filled by Republicans? Fitz was indignant.

He took his Republican colleague from Brooklyn Congressman Calder about it. "These places are under the civil service. It is in outrage. I will not stand for it. I am going down to see about it, and more to the same effect. Then Calder, who had been fooled himself for a short time, pointed out to Fitzgerald that the publication was one of the items under "fifty years after" featured in a number of articles of what happened in 1861.

More Than on the Run.

A friend accused by Ollie James in the house corridor, and suggested to him that he had Senator Paynter "on the run" by the senatorial contest down in Kentucky. "Better than that," replied Ollie, "I have got him better." One of the things which Paynter has to encounter is the support which he gave Lormer in the last senate.

An Old Timer.

A few who were here in Washington years and years ago rubbed their eyes and scratched their heads in an effort to remember who was the old man with a grizzled mustache and an empty sleeve pinned to his breast who appeared on the floor of the house and was about the halls of congress. They could scarcely remember that the man was former Congressman Hooker of Mississippi one of the last of the Confederate brigadiers who served in the house. He was prominent in the Reed and Carlisle congresses, when partisanship ran higher than at present.

Mansfield, June 14. Members of the junior class of the local high school suspended a jug by a string over a door on the stage during the high school commencement exercises, intending to lower the jug to the view of the audience while the superintendent was presenting the diplomas. The string broke and the jug hit Earl O'Brien on the head, rendering him unconscious. Arrests will be made as a result of the prank.

DETECTIVE CLAIMS TO HAVE STRONG CHAIN OF EVIDENCE AGAINST DELAWARE WOMAN

Delaware, June 11. There was a dramatic scene in the Henkle home today when Mrs. Henkle and Miss Merle Henkle, her 21-year-old step daughter, of whom she is accused of poisoning, met for the first time since Mrs. Henkle's arrest. Miss Henkle was feeling stronger today and needing some of her clothes decided to go to her home for them. There she met the stepmother whom she accuses of the poisoning. A well defined rumor today connects a well known local physician with the poisoning of Miss Henkle. Reports state that the prosecution is now able to prove that while the physician was not openly connected with the treatment of Miss Henkle, he was aware of it. The father of Mrs. Henkle returned this morning to his home in Caldwell, after stating that he would aid his daughter to the end, if it required every cent he possessed.

Delaware, Ohio, June 14.—Mrs. John D. Henkle, charged with administering poison to her beautiful 20 year old step-daughter, firmly denies the crime and her husband refuses to declare himself one way or the other. County Detective Matthews, who made the arrest, claims to have undisputable evidence against Mrs. Henkle.

Henkle, who is a traveling salesman for the Crystal Candy Company, married his second wife, formerly Mrs. Jessie R. Way, in February, 1911. She was a milliner, who came here about eight months before that time and started business on West Winter street. Her store at Caldwell was burned one night within a half hour of the regular closing time. She has had great difficulty in getting insurance for damage done at that time.

Soon after coming to Delaware and becoming acquainted with Mrs. Way Henkle arranged to take her with him through the country on one of his traveling trips. They drove past the millinery store and Mrs. Henkle then Mrs. Way—got out of the buggy to "get some hatpins with which to hold her hat firm during the country trip." They had hardly got to the edge of town on the way to Lewis Center when the fire department was called.

In the court of Mayor Haas she was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of arson, but there was not sufficient evidence to secure an indictment and Mrs. Henkle was released.

Mrs. Henkle reiterates that the arrest came as one of the greatest shocks of her life. "I'm the girl's step mother and I have always treated her well. Day by day I have run up and down those steps, waiting on her administering her medicine, washing her clothes, and performing other duties that would naturally fall upon me, and then to have her come out with the statement that I poisoned her, why, it's simply absurd."

In her quiet way Miss Henkle told a story upon which the state says it hopes to convict the stepmother on an attempt to take the life of the one her father loved.

There is another son of Mrs. Henkle, Fred, aged 13, who is an exemplary little chap, very wise for one of his early years. Her first husband was Edward Way, a hunchy operator who died in Wheeling, W. Va., of lead poisoning.

Following the bond, which was furnished by Mr. Atkinson, examination was waived, and the case will hang fire until the session of the grand jury in September.

A dispatch from Wheeling, W. Va., says:

Relatives of Edward S. Way, a hunchy operator, who died here April 19, 1909, stated today that they will have his body exhumed and examined for traces of poisoning, following the arrest of Mrs. Jessie R. Henkle at Delaware on a charge of poisoning her stepdaughter.

Mrs. Henkle was Way's wife. Way's relatives say his death was mysterious. The physician who attended him, Dr. H. E. Wilson, is now located at Omaha, Neb.

It is requested that all business men of this city decorate their places of business on Thursday and Friday in honor of the thirty-seventh annual reunion of the Ohio State Association of Mexican War Veterans, which will be held here on those days. As this is probably the last general reunion that will ever be held by the old veterans, our citizens should vie with each other in doing them honor.

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

Mr. Vernon, June 11. While attempting to crank an automobile owned by Ben Ames, John Ringwalt, son of the late John C. Ringwalt, a prominent dry goods merchant, fell backwards and died in a nearby physician's office. The doctors were unable to determine whether he died of brain concussion caused by the fall or a sudden attack of heart trouble. Bystanders assert that the auto engine backedfire, throwing Ringwalt to the pavement. Others claim that he suddenly straightened up and with his head on his breast and fell backwards.

Ringwalt was a member of one of Mt. Vernon's oldest families and was for a time associated with his father in the store, but after his father's death he engaged extensively in the poultry business. He was a prominent Mason and Knight Templar and this body will have charge of the funeral.

ATHLETIC CAR PASSED THROUGH CITY LAST EVENING

Great interest is already being manifested in the three day reliability run, to be run by the Cleveland News, under the auspices of the Cleveland Automobile club on July 17, 18 and 19. This is under the sanction of the American Automobile Association. The run will start at Cleveland and extend to Wheeling and thence to Columbus, where a big parade will be given before the return trip to Cleveland is started. Tuesday night at 9 o'clock this 40-horse power seven passenger 12 model Garford car, acting as a finding car for the run, arrived in the city. It contained A. S. Childers, business manager of the Cleveland News; St. Clair Couzens, automobile editor; Ira Fouché, driver, and C. Hammerle, a Goodyear tire expert. The party, which is going over the road to ascertain conditions and make preliminary arrangements for the run, upon arriving in the city immediately went to the Kuster Cafe, on the North Side, where they had supper, after which they left for Columbus, where they remained during the night. The tentative route is from Cleveland to Ravenna, Warren, Niles and Youngstown, stopping at Alliance at noon, and continuing to Canton and thence to Wheeling, where the cars will put up for the first night of the run. The second day's run will be from Wheeling to Zanesville, where a stop will be made for dinner, after which the motorists will continue to Newark and Columbus, where they will stop the second night. The third day's run will be from Columbus to Mansfield, where a stop will be made for dinner, and thence to Cleveland. The run will cover more than six hundred miles, and the first day's run will average more than 220 miles.

FENNER GIRL IS DROWNED IN RESERVOIR

FURTHER DETAILS OF TRAGEDY
AT AKRON IN WHICH NEW-ARK GIRL DIES.

Reached for Pretty Shell on Edge of Basin and Lost Her Balance
—Funeral Today.

The following from Akron, gives further details of the tragedy in which Frances Fenner, formerly of this city, lost her life by drowning in the waterworks reservoir. Climbing over a fence to the concrete wall surrounding the reservoir at the plant of the Akron Water Works Company, Frances Leona Fenner, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fenner, of Sherbondy Hill, southwest of the city, fell into the basin of water late Monday afternoon and was drowned. A short time before the accident the mother had started Frances and a younger brother to the grocery. On the way, they met Marjorie Johnson, 8, and together wandered to the vicinity of the water works plant. Something inside the wire fence surrounding the reservoir attracted the attention of Frances, and she scaled the obstruction and descended to the concrete base inside. Her foot slipped and she was precipitated into the water. The Johnson girl ran some distance to notify persons she knew, and in the meantime the victim was drowned in about six feet of water. Michael Greely, employed at the water works, recovered the body. Jno. Sprague, who resides in close proximity to the basin, and who was at his home, said that had the other children screamed and attracted his attention he would in all probability have been able to save the Fenner child. The Fenner family moved to Summit county from Newark, April 26. They had resided in that city eight years. Little Frances attended the district school near her home. There are eight other children with the parents. Three are married. The Johnson girl in telling of the accident said that Frances discovered a shell and was reaching for it when she slipped and fell into the water. She grabbed for the victim and came near falling into the basin. Realizing that she could not reach her companion, she scaled the fence and ran to inform Mrs. Fenner of the accident. The Fenner home was nearly a mile distant. The shock prostrated Mrs. Fenner and she was rendered helpless, and was unable to go to the water works plant. The father went to the reservoir and assisted in the work of recovering the body, which was taken to Parks' morgue. The little girl was exceedingly bright for one of her age. The parents carried a small insurance policy on her life. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon and interment was made in Akron.

NEWARK MAN KILLED WHILE CROSSING BRIDGE

Carr, a well known resident of this city, who formerly worked at the Baltimore and Ohio railroad shops here, but who, for some time past has been working in the shops at Twenty-eighth street, Pittsburgh, was accidentally killed on Tuesday at Skelley, O., near Steubenville. He was crossing bridge 51 at that place when he was struck by a Pan-handle second No. 13, and instantly killed. His body was taken to Sheridan, Pa., where his mother lives, and where the burial will be made. The deceased was aged about thirty years, and is survived by his wife and a ten month old babe. Mrs. Carr left for Sheridan Wednesday afternoon to attend the funeral.

MAIL ORDERS

People make a great mistake in ordering merchandise of any kind through mail order catalogues. In watches, clocks and jewelry there is more swindling than in almost any other line. If you want to save both money and trouble and be confident that you have purchased an article of merit, go to the reliable store of Haynes Bros., Jewelers, No. 8 North Side of Square, where reliability prevails. You can have here a great variety to select from and not only see just what you are getting, but back of it is the guarantee of one of our best known home merchants. 14-16-19
